To earn money is easy compared with spending well. Men do not become rich by what they get, but by what they save. The spendthrift money burns holes in the pocket and he must squander it, always boasting that his motto is 'Spend and God will Send". He forestalls his income, draws upon his capital and so kills the goose which lay the golden eggs. There are more asses with two legs, I am sorry that they are found among workmen as well as gentlemen. Fellows who have no estate but their labour and no family arms except those they work with, will yet spend their little hard earnings in a reckless fashion, perhaps the worst waste is in dress although as a matter of fact, the great majority of the people have nothing to do with cilk and satin.
